

Voyage-Air goes On Tour with Paul McCartney

Rusty Anderson - Lead Guitar for the Paul McCartney Band - ONSTAGE with Voyage-Air!

Livermore, CA - December 15, 2009 - The word is out: Sir Paul McCartney is back on tour with his Good Evening Europe show, now through December 22nd. The surprise is that Voyage-Air guitar is joining him onstage, in the hands of maestro guitar-slinger Rusty Anderson. A recent Voyage-Air convert, Rusty's choice shows that he's confident with the sound and feel of the guitar, and that he's playing it live, onstage, throughout the tour.

And at Voyage-Air guitar, we want to pass along a big WOW, THANKS! But also that this was entirely Rusty's choice: we didn't know about his using a Voyage-Air guitar onstage until the first covert "cell phone" videos started showing up on YouTube. Seriously: we didn't know, and there were no contracts, bribes, payoffs, or anything - it seems that Rusty decided that the Voyage-Air guitar had the tone and the feel that he wanted to take to the stage!

Rusty Anderson has held the Lead Guitar position with the Paul McCartney band for the past 10 years, but his epic music career spans 3 decades. He's recorded with the Bangles, Fishbone, Matthew Sweet, Neil Diamond, Animal Logic (with Stewart Copeland & Stanley Clarke), Little Richard, Parthenon Huxley and Carole King. The list goes on, including Elton John, The New Radicals, Willie Nelson, Sinéad O'Connor, The Wallflowers, Jewel, Santana, Stevie Nicks, Ronan Keating and Joe Cocker.

Rusty Anderson knows his way around a guitar - and has dozens of stage-worthy instruments available for use at the current Good Evening Europe show. His pick? Voyage-Air. Why? Drop by an authorized Voyage-Air dealer and see for yourself.
